

Georgia Southern University

Digital Commons@Georgia Southern

Inkwell

Student Media

1-25-1988

The Inkwell

Armstrong State College

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/inkwell>

Recommended Citation

Armstrong State College, "The Inkwell" (1988). Inkwell. 1174.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/inkwell/1174>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Media at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Inkwell by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

“Club Coca-Cola” Arrives Here On January 30 in Fine Arts

“Club Coca-Cola”™, a most sophisticated touring dance club featuring the nation’s hottest music-video hits, comes to the auditorium at Armstrong State College for one night only, January 30, at 10:00 pm.

Admission is $5.00, and tickets are available at the Student Activities Office.

“Club Coca-Cola”™, sponsored by Coca-Cola USA, will benefit Special Olympics. In addition, receipts from the sale of concessions—including special, first-edition “Club Coca-Cola”™ T-shirts—will benefit CUB-Rockme Productions.

World’s greatest touring dance club here on Jan. 30

Billed as the world’s greatest touring music-video dance club, “Club Coca-Cola”™ features an incomparable selection of music videos as performed by today’s hottest artists, music legends, and rising rock groups, including the Police, Genesis, Run DMC, Whitney Houston, Bon Jovi, U2, Aretha Franklin, The Cult, Amaze, Duran-Duran, Billy Idol, and The Art of Noise.

The fast-paced evening also includes special video appearances by international television celebrity Max Headroom.

A 300-square-foot screen captures all the music-video action, while an array of special effects, including a super strobe and other high-tech lighting designs, surrounds “Club Coca-Cola”™ party-goers with a total fantasy of sight and sound. The club’s dynamic concert system is provided by Panasonic/Ramsa.

Guests relaxing from the energetic and exciting dance-floor activity can watch either of two 19-inch television monitors, positioned near the “Club Coca-Cola”™ refreshment center.

The “Club Coca-Cola”™ tour, launched in early October, is the county’s largest touring dance club. Coca-Cola USA officials estimate more than 125,000 students at 100 campuses along the Atlantic Coast and in the Midwest—plus military personnel, their families and friends at selected U.S. bases—will have packed the Club before the end of the year.

Special Olympics unites more than one million mentally retarded athletes, ages eight and up, in 70 countries around the world on the common ground of athletic competition. The organization fosters interaction and friendship between retarded and non-retarded individuals.

“Club Coca-Cola”™ is produced and implemented by Brian Winthrop International Ltd., of New York.

Regents’ Preparation Info..

Kelly Keating
Staff Writer

For those students who are registered for the February 9 Regents exam to be administered in the Fine Arts Building, the office of Counseling and Placement offers the following practice tests:

ESSAY
Thursday, Jan. 28,
11:30-12:30 in the Writing Center.

Monday, Feb. 1, 12:30-2:30, also in the Writing Center.

READING
Thursday, Feb. 4, 12:30-2:00 in Fine Arts Room 206.

If you cannot attend the workshops, Lane Library has sample reading portion of the Regents’ Tests on reserve for students to review at the circulation desk. Students are reminded to bring two pencils and two pens (blue or black ink). Dictionaries are allowed for spelling checks, but only during the last 15 minutes of the essay exam. Students must bring picture I.D.

Results of the February 9 exam will be available by March 8, 1988. The next exam will be given Tuesday, May 9, 1988. Registration will be held March 29-April 12. The final exam of this school year will be on July 26, 1988. Registration for this exam will be on June 14-July 5.

Jazz Combo Takes Off to Colombia

Elizabeth Rodgers
Fine Arts Consultant

The Armstrong State College Jazz Combo, accompanied by the Head of the ASC Fine Arts Department, Dr. James Anderson, went to Bogota, Colombia during the end of the Fall Quarter to provide workshops for local jazz musicians. The members of the combo included two faculty members, Randy Reese (saxophone and flute), Jim Amend (piano), a music major, Lee Lariscy (electric bass), and a graduate of ASC, Konrad Clemens (drums). This trip was sponsored by the Latin American Cultural Development Foundation (LACDF), Avianca Airlines, and the Centro Colombo Americano of Bogota. Luis Pacina, President of LACDF, worked with Dr. Anderson in making arrangements for this trip. One of the primary missions of the Foundation is to develop and promote cultural interchange between Colombia and the United States through music and the visual arts.

The group toured from November 27 to December 5 and flew compliments of Avianca Airlines. They gave six concerts in various locations, including one concert in the U.S. Embassy. They also provided a series of four workshops for local jazz artists. The response that the combo received was incredible: the auditoriums were packed, the applause was overwhelming, and after the concerts, the people wanted autographs from the group. The concerts generated a tremendous amount of interest about Armstrong State College and the kind of music being taught here.

One of the additional highlights of the trip was a two-day excursion funded totally by Avianca Airlines to the city of Barranquilla which is a city of over one million people on the Caribbean coast of Colombia. The jazz combo performed in the Avianca Building and attracted an overflow crowd of over 400 people. After the concert, a number of students brought their instruments and went with the combo to a local jazz club and had a “jam” session until the early morning hours.

The Colombian students and local jazz artists seemed to be genuinely interested in learning more about performing the type of jazz played by the ASC group. As a result, Mr. Pacini and Avianca Airlines want the group to return to Colombia in March to provide additional concerts and workshops. The LACDF is also hoping to arrange for some of the Colombian jazz students to come to ASC and study music.

ARMSTRONG STATE COLLEGE INKWELL

VOL. LII, NO. VII

JANUARY 25, 1988

The Editor's Beef

So the Supreme Court ruled that advisors of student publications retain the right to censor what can and cannot be put into student newspaper. I'm not completely with the story, mainly because I've been living in this office apart from civilization, but I believe that the ruling affects not only high-school papers, but college papers as well.

If I'm wrong then somebody stop me. Okay, I'll go on then. The issue at hand is not what can or cannot be printed in a school publication, the issue starts way before then, about 200 years ago or so. The bill of rights gives the right of freedom of the press to all Americans, but does this freedom pertain to publications apart from the likes of the New York Times or the Chicago Tribune or any other newspaper that circulates through society. Does this freedom pertain to the Inkwell or the student newspaper of Beach High School, or Savannah High, or other high schools everywhere? Obviously the Supreme Court does not feel so.

Perhaps a certain bit of supervision is needed in some cases; some topics should not be approached by someone who is naive to said topic (not unlike what I'm doing right now). Nevertheless, those topics (i.e. abortion, birth control, et al) can be handled with some extent of tact, making it feasible for even the most uninformed people to comment without harming anyone. It is when the commentaries or articles start to cause offense, when that boundary of tact and tastelessness has been crossed, that some sort of intervention is needed. I might be digging my own grave here.

If I am at risk of being censored, then maybe I shouldn't talk about the firing of Jimmy the Greek last week.

But no one is going to see this before it goes to the printers, so what the hell.

First Al Campanis gets booted for saying that blacks don't have what it takes to make in the front offices of professional organizations and now "the Greek" gets the axe

Cont. on pg. 8...

WOW News

Beckie Jackson
Assistant Editor

WOW is brimming over with bright and talented ladies. As mentioned in our last edition of WOW News, Kathy Newman has been nominated as an Outstanding Young Woman of America. Also, Kathy has been accepted for Who's Who Among American College Students.

In addition, Anne Buttmer-Gay has been nominated for Outstanding Young Woman of America.

Another woman of note in our organization is our secretary, Mary Johnson. On top of being an excellent student, Mary is the owner of Oglethorpe Portrait Studios.

In the near future, Mary will be opening an art gallery which will be adjacent to her portrait studio. Mary is a fine example of what Women of Worth represents.

The list doesn't end with Mary. Dr. Grace Martin, our faculty advisor, has been invited to present a paper, "Reentry Women: A Comparison of Nontraditional Students and Full-Time Homemakers," to the South Eastern Psychological Association. The paper is the result of intensive studies done by Dr. Martin, Dr. Donald Super, and Deborah A. Crosby (an alumni of ASC and of WOW). The presentation will be made in New Orleans on Friday, April 1, 1988.

Our congratulations go out to all of these ladies.

Also, good luck to Sandee Carter, WOW's candidate for Homecoming Queen. We'll be cheering for you Sandee.

On another note, the Kin-dustry program has been expanded to include part time students who may receive part time care. Part time care is available at the White Bluff and Wilmington Island locations only. For more information, call Student Affairs at 927-5271. Our thanks to Dr. Buck and to Bill Kelso for this much needed addition.

To Belt Or Not to Belt

Brett A. Thomas
Staff Writer

At the time of this writing, there is, in our state legislature, a bill who's future is suspect. This particular bill deals with raising the speed-limit on local interstates to sixty-five miles per hour. This bill is being currently threatened by our governor, Mr. Joe Frank Harris.

This threat takes the form of a stipulation that Mr. Harris demands be added to the bill, under threat of veto, namely, that a mandatory seat-belt law be included and passed with the speed-limit hike.

Persoanlly, I don't really care whether the speed-limit is changed or not, as I rarely or never drive on Georgia's rural interstates, these being the ones affected. Speaking from a broader view, though, I am in favor of it, as it would legalize what most people are now doing anyway.

However, what I really want to complain about is the mandatory seat-belt usage law. Now, I, for one, generally use my seat-belt. I was forced into the habit by my mother, and frankly, don't feel quite comfortable without it. In general, I think that wearing your seat-belt is a good idea. I don't, however, beleive that my government should force me to wear it! Being, in my opinion, an at least semi-responsible adult, I think it should be up to me, and me alone, whether I choose to protect my life or not. After all, smoking is legal, and yet has been continuously linked with lung cnacer and heart disease. There's no law that requires me to wear a raincoat and heavy clothing when I go outside in the freezing rain, although I may catch pnueumonia if I do. It is assumed that the average American adult has enough sense to decide for him/her self in these cases. Obviously, in the eyes of our esteemed governor, we are incapable of making an intelligent choice in this matter.

I remember once, many, many years ago, I read a book in which an adult and several small children were setting up an imaginary government. When the children were asked to submit laws for this government, little Billy spoke up and suggested that it be against the law to eat wild toadstools, as such actions can be fatal. The adult, of course, gently reproved Bily, saying that this was good advice, but wasn't quite on the order of a law. It seems to me that our state leaders are suffering from the same confusions as our friend Billy: wearing your seat-belt is a good idea, but as a law it leaves much to be desired.

Alpha Gam Update

Hey, gang! Just sitting here listening to an old Men at Work tune and began thinking of the exciting plans for spring break. Daytona here we come! (Of course, one of us always seems to go north!)

Besides our exciting spring break plans, the AGD's have a lot planned for this quarter. Elections for new officers are coming up (that's the business) and so is V-Day (Valentine's, that is), and you know what that means, the usual but, creative, Valentine bags strung in the room and the infamous Krush party. (Be looking for those invites, guys!)

Stephanie Norman has planned a couple of retreats to get everyone back into the swing of the quarter, and all the sisters are looking forward to Homecoming Week. Yes, the girls have been practicing their fancy footwork for the dance while trying to con their favorite guys to be in the various Homecoming events. Khristy Graham is representing the AGD's in the mad dash for Homecoming Queen and we know that she's got what it takes. Good luck, Khristy!

The Gamma Rho's have already had some wonderful events this past quarter-intiatiion and pledging. On January 9, Benerly Gnann, Khristy Graham and Manya Lazarus were brought into the sisterhood with all the pomp and circumstance due three wonderful girls. On January 19 one pledge was added to our family-Amy Jones. Welcome to all! You're gonna have a great experience!

Finally, the Alpha Gams want to wish everyone good luck this quarter and to remind everyone to participate in Homecoming Week. Good luck, again, Khristy!

THE INKWELL

Editor-in-Chief	Michael West
Assistant Editor	Beckie Jackson
Ad Man	John Dickens
Layout Assistant	Tommy Jenkins
Staff Writers	Stephanie Norman
	Brett A. Thomas
	Kelly Keating
	Lisa Friedman
	J.J. Rutland
Fine Arts Consultant	Elizabeth Rodgers
"Offroads" Creator	Judd Smith
Creative Consultants	Uncle Mudfoot
	Wild Bill
	Maxwell House
	The White Album
Typesetting	Brett Thomas
Proofreader	J.J. Rutland
Photography	SPS
Advisor	Micki Lee

The Inkwell Page of Funk

Arm-in-Arm

Offroads

Judd Smith

Coming to Studio A...

February 1-5

February
22-26

February 8-12

ARMSTRONG STATE C

Stephanie Norman
Staff Writer

One of the joys arriving with the basketball season is anticipating the Homecoming game preceded by a week full of activities. This year is no different and the College Union Board has some original events in store for "The Time of Your Life".

On Monday, February 1, CUB has slated to begin a pool tournament which is open to anyone interested. A Beat the Cougar car bash will allow all die-hard Pirate fans to take out their frustrations on the "enemy." Plans are in the works for evening entertainment as well, where the Pirate team will be introduced.

Heading into Tuesday, the ladies are in for a treat with the Mr. Legs contest. Famed of old each recognized organization on campus sponsors one guy with great legs. At lunchtime on February 2, these particular guys will parade across the stage in the cafeteria to be voted on by audience applause. (Please NO strippers!!) Of course, we have something for the guys, too, so there will be a chug-off followed by a burp-off, affectionately known as the Mellmack (sp??) Cheering Contest. Yes, distasteful as it may sound, the popularity of the sport can't be denied. The soft drink has not been settled upon but I can assure you it will do its job.

On Wednesday night all future performers are invited to show their stuff at the College Union Board Air Band/Lip Sync contest which will be followed by a barrage of Radio-Rock Trivia. Do you know who was the first star to debut on American Bandstand? Show up on Feb. 3 and tell us yourself!

But Wednesday is not all! Thursday at lunch, we will be lucky enough to see the Roommate game and a variety of Stupid Human Tricks. I don't know if even Letterman could begin to appreciate such esoteric tastes. Not enough? Read on...

Friday, Feb. 5 spotlights a lunchtime comedian and a money drop for the infamous Casino Night. Of course the pep rally and bonfire is a must, but gamblers beware, the casino of the '80's us upon us. Saturday includes the game in the gym and the Homecoming dance. For now, choices on a band are being narrowed and an exact location is at this very moment being decided upon.

Of course these events don't overshadow the fact that seven girls are running for Homecoming Queen. They will be introduced at lunchtime on Feb. 1. Voting begins that Monday and will end Tuesday at 5:00 pm.

And last, but never least, the whole purpose of the Homecoming is the alumnae. Armstrong's Alumnae Association has an alumnae basketball game and low country boil (sorry, alumnae only) planned for Saturday afternoon before coming to the game and even the dance.

Everyone should be able to find something to enjoy throughout Homecoming Week. (Even the faculty and administration are being thought of.) So come have "The Time of Your Life" and root the Pirates on to victory over the Columbus Cougars.

AIR BANDS!!

MELLMACK CHEERING
CONTEST!!

BONFIRE!!

MONEY DROP!!

CAR-BASH!!

MR. LEGS CONTEST!!

The Time

of
Your

Life

COLLEGE HOMECOMING

98

1988 Homecoming Queen Candidates

*Melanie Buchheit
Marauders
Freshman*

*Beverly Mead
Dental Hygiene
Junior*

*Michelle Ruiz
Engineering Society
Sophomore*

*Robbie Benton
American Chemical Society
Sophomore*

*Davita Capers
Ebony Coalition
Sophomore*

*Khristy Graham
Alpha Gamma Delta
Sophomore*

*Sandee Carter
Women of Worth
Graduate Student*

Voting for Homecoming Queen begins on Monday, February 1, and ends on Tuesday, February 2 at 5:00 pm. Be sure to have your student I.D.'s validated so you can stop by the Student Activities Office and cast your vote for the 1988 Queen. The winner and her court will be announced at halftime of the Homecoming game against the Columbus Cougars on Saturday, February 6, at the ASC gym. Be sure and join in on the Homecoming Festivities!

Lane Library Presents...

by Laura McClellan

What Armstrong publication advises students that "an ASC co-ed never smokes while crossing the campus" and "rat caps are to be worn by all entering freshman?" The 1966 student handbook contains these and other quaint tips for the new student. Page by page, Armstrong's history is stored in the Minis Room in Lane Library. The Minis Room holds the special collection and contains material printed from 1804 to 1987.

Focusing on Georgia authors and state and local history, the Minis collection holds much to interest both students and researchers. Recent topics researched in the collection include the siege of Fort Pulaski, Cherokee settlements in Georgia and the lives of Savannahians in the 1880s. Armstrong history can be discovered in the yearbooks, newspapers, handbooks and catalogs of the past. Many Savannah and

Georgia authors are represented by first editions of their works. The Conrad Minis Room holds more surprises than a family attic.

Aiken collection, for example, consists of 74 Aiken first editions, some of which are signed.

For anyone wishing to learn more about Savannah's history, the Minis collection holds surprises than a family attic. Savannah history has been written by many people with different perspectives. The Minis collection holds the stories of the city government, the Revolution and the Civil War, local families, legends and customs, plantation life, Cherokee Indians, and early settlers. Other stories are told through diaries and memoirs. Of particular interest are items such as the Sanborn maps of Savannah. These maps were made by hand using different colors of paper to represent each city lot. Other pieces of the past include programs from the old Savannah theater, photographs of local homes during the depression, government documents from the 1830s, and a collection of Savannah biographies.

The Minis Room is open to students, faculty and members of the community. materials may be used and photocopied.

ALA Out to Enlighten U.S. About Lung Disease

Lung diseases, including lung cancer, are the third most common cause of death in the United States today, according to the American Lung Association of Georgia. Besides the cost in human suffering, the direct economic cost is estimated at $41 billion in 1986.

"Lung cancer remains the leading cancer killer, with only 13 percent of lung cancer patients living five or more years after diagnosis," Thomas F. Gibson, president of the ALA of Georgia, said. "It is frightening that the mortality of lung cancer in American women has risen 380 percent in the last 35 years. Already the leading cancer killer among men, lung cancer has now surpassed breast cancer as the foremost cancer killer among American women."

According to the ALA of Georgia, much of the premature death and disability caused by lung disease is unnecessary and can be prevented. "Cigarette smoking causes 80 to 90 percent of deaths from chronic obstructive pulmonary diseases such as emphysema and chronic bronchitis," Gibson said.

Among some of the statistics cited by the ALA of Georgia regarding lung disease in America today are:

*Though tuberculosis is no longer a leading cause of death in this country, it has yet to be eradicated. In 1986, 22,773 new cases of TB were reported in America, and the incidence rate seems to be rising again.

*Pneumonia is the leading cause of death by infectious disease in the U.S. It is particularly dangerous to those over age 65 and those with previously existing lung illnesses or heart conditions. There were nearly three million episodes of pneumonia in the U.S. in 1985 (most recent statistics available).

*Influenza, which can be prevented in most cases with annual vaccination, can also be a life-threatening illness to the elderly and those with chronic heart or lung conditions. In 1985, there were 94 million reported episodes of flu.

*Pneumonia and influenza have ranked as the sixth leading cause of death since 1979.

*As for the common cold, 71 million episodes were estimated in 1985.

The American Lung Association was founded in 1904 to combat tuberculosis, then the nation's greatest menace. Today its mission to prevent, cure and control all lung diseases and eliminate some of their related causes, including smoking, air pollution and occupational lung hazards.

The American Lung Association relies heavily upon public donations to Christmas Seals for support of its ongoing battle against lung disease, according to Gibson. "Even a small contribution can make a tremendous difference," he said.

For more information on lung disease, contact your local American Lung Association.

!!VOTE!!

Khristy Graham

Alpha Gamma Delta

1988 ASC HOME COMING QUEEN

Be sure and vote for Khristy Graham on Feb. 1!

A paid endorsement by Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority

WHY YOU CAN EXPECT MORE SUCCESS WITH MUTUAL OF OMAHA

Now that you've invested three or four years and considerable money in your college education, you're entitled to ask pointed questions about career payoffs.

At Mutual of Omaha, we welcome them because we've got good answers. When you work for Mutual of Omaha, there are plenty of opportunities to make good money. You can also earn bonuses and some first-class trips.

Good educations are put to good use. Matching our Income Protection products and services to customer needs provides plenty of intellectual challenge. We need bright people in management too.

We don't leave your career satisfaction and financial rewards to chance. We have a proven sales system and our training program is among the best in the industry.

It's not too early to check us out. Tell us about yourself in a letter or call for a confidential interview.

Ann Culberson
400 Mall Blvd, Suite J
Savannah, GA 31406
(912) 354-0089

Mutual of Omaha
Careers for the 90s

Equal Opportunity Companies M/F

ALEX COLE:=====

Portrait of a Rebel(??)

Michael West

If you heard someone choking on a leg of chicken or spitting up a pint of Coke last January 11, it was elicited by a fit of laughter provided by one of the nation's top campus comedians. Not since the Alex Cole show in the winter of 1987 has the student body of ASC laughed so hard.

Well, Alex Cole did it again when he paid a return visit to MCC's on the eleventh, made possible by the ASC College Union Board. Cole, who has been nominated for the Campus Entertainer finned his show to campuses, though. He retired from performing at night clubs just three years ago and is still a regular performer at the New York and Los Angeles Improvs. Before he turned strictly to comedy, he did a little singing and a little acting. When he first started comedy he implemented his guitar into his act. Nowadays he performs at over 150 schools a year, a capella.

Each of those 150 schools gets a taste of the world according to Cole. He has the uncanny talent of taking an and Campus Comedian of the Year awards, captivated the packed cafeteria as he poked fun at everything from mother nature to fast-food joints.

Alex Cole takes a history break...

A native of Minneapolis, Minnesota, "the city of champions" according to him, Alex Cole has been touring colleges for about ten years now. He tours ten months out of the year, every now and then opening up for such country singing stars as Eddie Rabbit, Crystal Gale and The Gatlin Brothers. "I enjoy opening up for these guys; I'm a big country music fan," says Cole, "but when you open up for stars like that, you only have forty, forty-five minutes out there; sometimes it takes me that long to get the crowd into the show. My material has to be a little different, too, a little cleaner, that is. Doing campuses allows me more time and freedom to do what I was born to do."

Cole hasn't always con-

everyday situation and making people laugh at things that they can relate to, like never being able to understand what is said back to you at a fast-food drive through window, or that everyone in the world will abandon a $25,000 automobile if a bee happens to make its way into it. These and other idiosyncracies of life are brought to the audience's attention whenever Alex Cole takes the stage.

However, some people aren't always as happy with Cole's brand of humor. The association that Cole works for, NECA, has, in the past, chastised him for his mannerisms onstage and his reputation as a partier off-stage. "Sometimes they get upset with the way I behave off-stage, Cole says. "I'm a partier and if I have time after the show, I'll go out with the students and mingle, to have a good time. They (NECA) really frown down on that; they want me to behave a little better and clean up my act a bit. The way I look at it, my show, or any show for that matter, is created for the audience's pleasure, not NECA's. I want someone in the audience to say 'Hey, I'd like to have a beer with this guy.' What the audience sees onstage is me; they get the real Alex Cole. I'm not going to change for anybody, nor am I going to kiss up to anybody."

Whatever he's doing, whether NECA approves or not, it must be working for him. He has recently been nominated for Campus Entertainer and Campus Comedian of the Year and will find out on February 20 if he will receive those honors. He also recently signed a development contract with ABC. The contract means that he is "property" of the network, and that the network will try and incorporate Cole into sitcom pilots or other shows that would suit him. Bruce Willis, co-star of ABC's "Moonlighting," was on this program. "It looks like everything is falling into place right now," says Cole, "but I'm not going to hold my breath. If it happens, that would be wonderful, but I can stay happy doing what I'm doing now." That's good; students at ASC will be glad to have him back. But, if ABC sees in Cole exactly what ASC has seen in him, then there's no doubt that he will someday make it to the pinnacle of show-biz, and that ASC students will have to settle for watching Cole in his own sitcom. Good luck, Alex, and thanks!

...then he harasses innocent bystanders.

All photos by
Jeff Jackson

Beef (cont...)

for racial reamrks that he made. I don't intend on debating what was said by Campanis and Snyder; that's all been run into the ground and is yesterday's news. What isn't yesterday's news is the root of the problem: lack of blacks in the front offices. That issue reached a burning pinnacle with Campanis' remarks and has been going on since and the NAACP has been pushing even harder for more blacks to gain positions in the front offices.

In sports, however, as in all occupations, who gets the job should not be based on black or white. Instead it should be based on who has the credentials. If a black man has better credentials than a white man, then he deserves the job, and vice-versa. The decision should not come down to black or white, male or female. It should come down to who is better qualified.

Perhaps there is a scam going on in pro sports that the public is unaware of that is preventing blacks and other minorities a chance for advancement. If that is the case, as the NAACP is alleging, then by all means the system needs drastic repair. However, there is no need for an overkill. If a machine needs repair then you do just what is necessary to get it working again; you don't over-repair it. Afterwards, you sit back and monitor the situation, making sure that nothing gets fouled up again. The bottom line is that credentials, not race, should be the deciding factor in who gets a job.

Don't Let 'em Take Me to the Cadillac Ranch

MWJR.

Happiness is a Dead Cat

J.J. Rutland
&
Uncle Mudfoot

Happiness is putting on a pair of underwear fresh out of the dryer.

Happiness is waking up after "Breakfast with Burl."

Happiness is the sanitary taste of cold porcelain in the morning after a night of carousing with the boys.

Happiness is hearing a foul ball whistle past your noggin, knowing that it didn't hit you, but instead knocked the bonehead sitting next to you too-floss.

Happiness is reading the obituaries in the morning and not seeing your name.

Happiness is a class with no attendance policy.

Happiness is a classroom with the heating level below cremate.

Happiness is a multiple choice test.

Happiness is a cancelled class.

Happiness is pre-registration.

Happiness is the privacy of a bathroom stall.

Happiness is a bathroom stall WITH a lock.

Happiness is being provided with reading material on the wall of the stall.

Happiness is paper towels in the bathroom, not a blow dryer.

Happiness is a sudsy fountain.

Happiness is a full tank of gas.

Happiness is oversleeping.

Happiness is coming prepared for a date.

Happiness is a dutch date.

Happiness is a Three Stooges film festival.

Happiness is not hearing any complaints about the smallness of the newspaper from someone who is too lazy to write an article for you in order to make it larger.

Happiness is someone not pointing out some misspelled words to you when he/she doesn't bother to volunteer his/her proofreading services.

Happiness is not hearing any complaints about how sloppy your office is from someone who doesn't offer his/her maid services.

Happiness is an office door that opens without having to beat it into submission.

Happiness is being in the fast-moving line at the supermarket.

Happiness is waking up in the morning with dry sheets.

Happiness is a neutered dog.

Happiness is a free lane on Abercorn at 5:07 in the afternoon.

Happiness is a car void of bird droppings.

Happiness is a dead cat.

Happiness is making a deadline.

Happiness is a temporary beard.

Happiness is a George Michael-free radio station.

Happiness is co-ed softball.

Happiness is two dead cats.

Happiness is a loaded gun pointed at an Iranian.

Happiness is a loaded gun pointed at a cat.

Happiness is running over a cat in your Bigfoot 4x4.

Happiness is not making any whistling noises when you breathe.

Happiness is thinking of that perfect come-back the moment that you need it, not five minutes later.

Happiness is surfing naked.

Happiness is a Physics-free environment.

Happiness is a cat-free environment.

Happiness is a six-pack of Jolt Cola just around deadline time.

Happiness is a basset hound.

Happiness is shree dead cats.

Happiness is a Lasagna dinner at Anna's Little Napoli.

Happiness is a game of Pictionary.

Happiness is a car that starts.

Happiness is a packed gymnasium.

Happiness is chalking up one more in the 'W' column.

Happiness is (could be) a winning season.

Happiness is some new Boss.

Happiness is Sting.

Happiness is a White Album.

Happiness is a Warm Gun.

Happiness is a warm Walrus, goo goo gajoob.

Happiness is an unexposed hickie.

Happiness still is, and always will be, a dead cat.

NWS Business needs someone for Data Entry. Call 234-0395. SECURITY

Am-Pro Protective Agency needs an Am-Pro Agent. Call 1-803-782-9636.

FOOD SERVICE

McDonald's on Abercorn needs personnell for all positions. Apply in person.

First City Dining Club needs waiters, waitresses and a bartender. Call 238-4548.

The Chart House needs personnell for all positions. Call 234-6686.

Domino's Pizza needs drivers and phone persons. Call 354-0408.

Bodi's Dessert Cafe needs waiters or waitresses. Call 354-3733.

MISCELLANEOUS

M&M Supermarket needs stockers and cashiers. Apply at any store.

Coastal Bank is need of a shredder. Phone 235-4400.

Lifeline Medical needs a radiology technician. Please call 966-2366.

Davlong Data Systems needs customer support representative. Call 355-3213.

Janis Jones needs a driver and a reader. Call 352-0865

Tutor for Math 099. Call 238-0508.

Dean Witter needs a telephone solicitor. Call 352-8001.

Comfort Air Corporation needs someone tele-marketing.

JOB LISTINGS

SALES

Comfort Air Corporation desires someone interested in sales marketing. Call 927-7000.

Eli Witt Company needs someone for front counter sales. Call 233-3083.

CLERICAL

Ola Wyeth Branch Public Library needs a library page. Call 234-5127.

Dr. Berg needs a receptionist. Call 351-0637.

Barbizon Modeling school of Savannah is in need of a secretary/receptionist. Call 354-3343.

Ned Winter State Farm Agency needs general office support. For more info call 352-8529.

MANAGEMENT

His Place in the Mall is looking for an Assistant Manager. Call 352-3201

Sports a Foot in the Mall is in need of a manager trainee. Call 355-6974 for more info.